

Server's landing page redesign

Users experience a findability issue with long lists on the server's page. VMs, hosts, and physical servers are not separated. Also, more pertinent information is desired for first glance on this page. The reason is summary investigation pointers that may lead to further investigation on one or more servers. For this purpose, a tab design was implemented with additional columns that pointed to clear concise related information.

Created using Fireworks, Photoshop, and Dreamweaver.

Notes:

Open the VMs.html after unzipping to begin viewing the final design before implementation.